

Creative Writing 12

Your task will be to discover and strengthen your own writing voice, to play with language, form, structure and to experiment with genre. You will find your writing heroes and heroines amidst much reading and many experiences with other writers. You will divine your unique path as a writer. Throughout the course, you will communicate your ideas creatively and purposefully, with panache. The ultimate goal is to have fun writing and stretch yourself with new writing ideas and approaches, learn new skills and simultaneously, carve your own writing trail. Come prepared to practise the craft of writing in a supportive atmosphere and to begin developing a portfolio of your own work.
